

DIRECT MODULATION TRANSMITTER UTILIZING SIGNAL SQUARING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A apparatus to provide a direct modulation transmitter having high dynamic range and low distortion using signal processing at a first frequency level for a signal to be transmitted and increasing frequency to transmission frequency in a manner to avoid distortion and utilizing a squaring function in up-converting basic processing signal.

200404034000